LOOKING INTO THE FUTURE

To an ideal and to a man we dedicate this book. The ideal is preparation for the future through education; the man is Mr. Vierling Kersey, who has done most in our times to further this ideal.

An essential part of this future will be careful planning. Each of us must give serious thought to our problems and requirements in order to meet them adequately.

Upon graduation, each student will have to make an adjustment between his school life, in which he had many of his problems solved for him, and a life in a more mature business world, in which he will have to make his own decisions. There is a definite connection between these two lives, inasmuch as in the first we are planning and preparing for the second.

Our main objectives at the present are thinking ahead, setting a goal, and planning accordingly. The most important thing for each student to do now, especially during the present crisis, is to prepare for a complete and well rounded future.

A man who has done as much as, or more than, any one person to further the cause of preparation through education is our superintendent of schools, Mr. Vierling Kersey. He has been and is continuing to be a motivating force for this plan. All of his energies are directed to its immediate fulfillment.

His past experience as principal of Metropolitan High School, assistant superintendent, and state superintendent of schools, well qualifies him for the work he has undertaken. It is his work to guide the students of Los Angeles through these difficult days of preparation and to solve any problems that may arise.

Our school life has great significance. In Mr. Kersey's own words, "No day of school must pass without emphasis on thrift, industry and loyalty to our country, what these qualities mean and how they obligate every person to exemplify them in daily conduct, discussion and thought."

Because of the present crisis, Mr. Kersey's task takes on still more meaning. He is a tireless worker and has devoted his whole professional life to the study of education.

To an ideal, to a man, to a democracy of social and vocational fulfillment through a people prepared for their place in life, we dedicate the annual of S '42.

Dorsey Community Government is based on the soundest principles of democracy, and trains the members of the student body to take their places as future citizens.

C O M M U N I T Y E D U C A T I O N

During his three years as a member of the Dorsey Community each student has experiences which add to his understanding of the significance of the social, historical, and cultural values of democratic living.

The subject fields in which the student receives his education are planned to challenge his thinking, enrich his background, and give him opportunity for practical application of fundamental learning to the problems he must face as a contributing member of society.

Service to the Community, as well as participation in social, recreational, and athletic activities, plays a vital part in the life of every student of Susan Miller Dorsey High School.

A D M I N I S T R A T I O N

Our principal has risen to the challenge of his responsibility, and the result is Dorsey High School.

Five years ago, we were a new and relatively unimportant high school. Today, we are renowned throughout Los Angeles for our scholastic activities and our good sportsmanship. For this rapid expansion we can express our gratitude to our principal. In a brief period of time we have acquired many traditions which have become part of our Dorsey life. The fine record we are achieving is the result of his patience, perseverance, and understanding.

Because Mr. Montgomery serves in an advisory capacity to our student body we have a true democratic form of student government, enjoying the privileges and responsibilities of any community, and because of Mr. Montgomery's foresight, each student is equipped with vocational guidance to assist him in future social and occupational adjustments. The cooperation between our faculty and students is furthered under his direction, especially as he plays an important part in the arrangement of each semester's schedule and curriculum.

As head of a high school, the principal must have the love of youth, and the ability to be sympathetic with its needs. Dorsey is well aware that Mr. Montgomery possesses these qualities.

We of Dorsey High School are indebted to our principal for the lasting foundation he has laid to make our school a credit to the American way of life.

The enthusiasm of our boys' vice-principal and his genuine liking for his work with the boys arouses the whole-hearted cooperation of the Dorsey student body.

As head of the boys' athletic program, sponsor of the Knights, and coordinator of Dorsey defense, Mr. Kelly is an active participant in all school affairs.

He is known on the campus for his invariable sportsmanship in dealing with the problems of the boys, his ability to recognize their difficulties, and his help in finding the correct solution for them.

Dorsey girls realize and value Miss Howard's constant willingness to aid them in assuming their civic responsibilities as poised and well-mannered young women.

As girls' vice principal, the sponsorship of the Ladies Welfare Board, Personnel Board, and Social Committee is included in her school activities. As P.T.A. coordinator she helps strengthen the relationship between the school, parent, and as assistant to the principal in administration she is responsible for the school calendar.

It is to Miss Howard the girls of Dorsey turn instinctively for guidance and friendship.

Mrs. Hatch, the right hand of the Department, is deeply interested in the problems of each student and gives her guidance and direction during his entire three years at Dorsey and through individual teachers. The year 1942 was a year of great change for the school. We have been ever striving to develop progressively.

In 1942, our principal, Mr. [Name], has been in the school for the first time to the present emergency. Assisting in his cabinet were: Evelyn Hauschild and Buster Galbraith, Personnel Vice Presidents; Virginia Cuthill, Girls Service Vice President; Evelyn Hauschild, Girls Personnel Vice President; Irving Smith, Boys' Service Vice-President; Dorothy Parks, Secretary. The plan was originated whereby the number of clubs to which a student might belong was limited.

activities. Buster Galbraith succeeded in maintaining the organization's standards. During this semester the organization's public relations were completed. Dorsey again re-elected a student council member. The student body met at the Biltmore Hotel and Buster was elected to this important position.

Lois Oshier and Mark Nevill, the service units through coordinating many new projects, increased effectiveness.

Community Secretaries, Marge Riley and Bob W. corresponded with the student-body.

Marge Riley, Commissioner of Fine Arts, initiated projects which contributed to school cultural development.

As Public Relations Commissioner, Bob W. worked in bringing into closer association the school and community, which resulted in a better understanding between these two groups.

consisted of a series of hilarious relays, including a ferocious tug-of-war, exciting pie-eating contest, and a thrilling obstacle race. Both the Gauchos and Konoians were thoroughly wet before the completion of the Brawl. It was enjoyed exceedingly by the student body, who cheered the victors. Mike N.

The Gauchos celebrated their victory by cheering and cheering each other by wearing their loudest shirts, pants and hats. After picnicking on the girls' athletic field, they adjourned to the gym for the Gaucho Dance. Dorothy Jordan was in charge, and produced an entertaining and decorative affair.

January 27 was the date for the memorable Tradition Day and Senior Breakfast. Claire Howland, chairman of the Tradition Day committee, and Beverly Millard, head of the Breakfast Committee, worked together for its success. The solemnity and beauty of these occasions marked another milestone in the victorious career of the Gauchos. The Gaucho Gazette, edited by George Elser and his assistants Hal Weiner and Mike Mazmanian, made its initial appearance at the Breakfast. Featured in this journal of the Gauchos were the Class Will and Prophecy, which were read aloud to the seniors.

This class was composed of Dorsey's first war-time graduates, and although they were deprived of the opportunities the former senior classes received, their ability to be good sports was recognized.

Climaxing their final year at Dorsey High School, two hundred and eight Gauchos were graduated with the traditional and impressive exercises on Thursday, January 29, 1942. Dr. Louis Evans, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood, was the guest speaker. The program was representative of the collective talents of the Gauchos.

ship, citizenship, and leadership. They were chosen from a list composed of the top twenty percent of the class. These students were exceptional students.

As president of the Ladies, and as an energetic worker in all her activities, Beverley Millard's accomplishments were many. Ray Rawlins, while president of the HiY and chairman of the Boys' Welfare Board, achieved renown on the Dorsey campus. Mile Mazmanian led the Bee football team to victory and was the efficient sports editor of the Dorseygram. The honor of being class president during the Senior Bee and Aye semesters was bestowed on Jack Root, who could also be associated with the success of many of our dramas.

ORIENTATION

English Orientation

The English Orientation program is designed to help students develop a strong foundation in English language and literature. This program is essential for students who wish to pursue careers in writing, editing, or publishing. It provides a comprehensive overview of the English language, including grammar, composition, and literary analysis.

The students capable to maintain a helpful and efficient co-workers and their vocation is made by a student from the exploratory angle. In this program, students obtain information about many different professions, their advantages and disadvantages, and the future in the field.

It is the aim of the AIO work. Increasing speed and understanding in these subjects will aid all students in their study and leisure-time activities. One classic read and analyzed in literature. Through this program, the use of the English language is emphasized. This is the first step in the program.

The first step in the program is to make sure that the students are interested in the program. At this important time a basis can be laid upon which each student may build his high school years happily.

the panorama of colorful United States history. The BII provides for a study of America's struggle for territorial expansion. This information prove essential in solving future problems, the results of which will depend upon the knowledge of America's past history.

Through the presentation of the story of democracy in America, the leaders of the future place it holds in world history and human progress. The part these people will play in democracy's advancement is stressed in learning about growing America.

American literature fosters an appreciation for American authors, their backgrounds and contributions to culture. The importance of literature in America's democratic movement illustrates its future significance in world development.

Civics, a study of the development of United States Government, is outlined in the AII. With a complete comprehension of the workings of the government, the student learns what he can do as an active citizen in the United States. The rights of voting and participation in American life are analyzed as privileges of a democracy.

With a thorough knowledge of his country the student will be able to work with it and strong in its progressive aspirations.

This class also serves as the guidance and core curriculum class for each eleventh grade student. It is here that courses are planned for the next year.

Aurora Gardiol and Annette Mackie

As the center of student research, the library is an important contributing factor to the school's educational program. There are books, pamphlets, and newspapers on every subject in the school curriculum and also many references on outside interests. Whenever a student needs information for his school work or a book for leisure reading, he may come to the library and receive the friendly aid and advice of Miss Mackie, librarian, or her assistant Mrs. Gardiol, in helping him to get the most out of his reading.

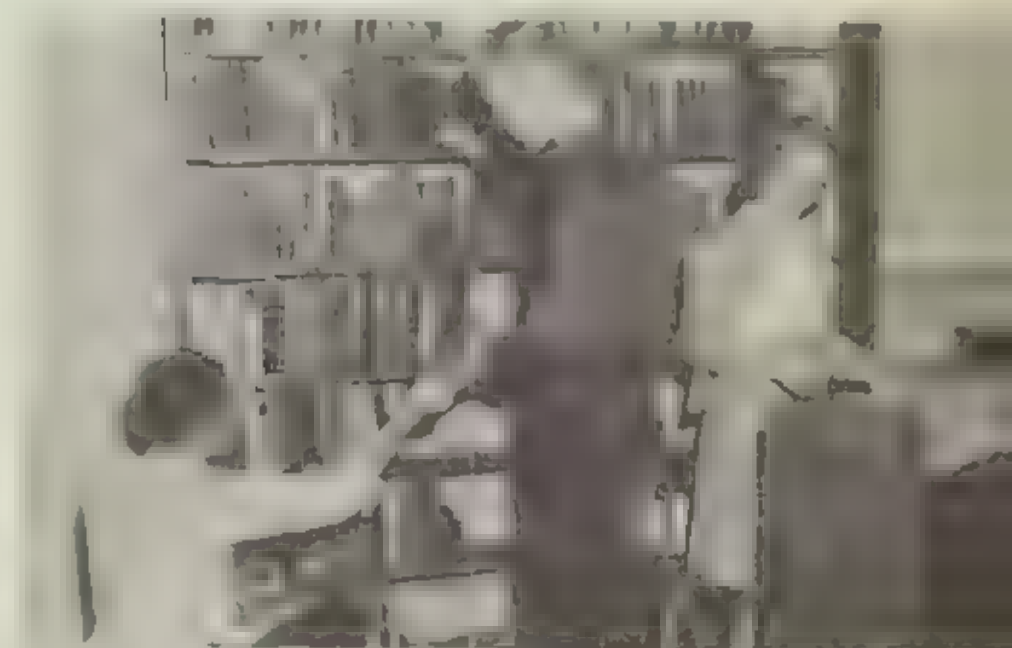

Since the Dorsey Library was founded in 1911, it has been adding new books to its collection at the rate of about a thousand a year, bringing the total up to five thousand. Of this number, about two thousand are of a popular nature such as fiction, history, travel, and biography. Since last year, half of the new books were of this sort. The library has recently been enriched by the contribution of twenty-nine books on American history and government from the Greayer Club, Post of the American Legion.

Through the teachers, Miss Mackie determines the type of books that are wanted and usually tries to secure them.

With the "fine" money she has received from the sale of about ninety books, including such best sellers as Berlin Diary and Inside Latin America.

Besides serving the individual student, the library accommodates classes coming up as groups for research. With the help of accurate card catalogs and convenient reference services, the students are able to find their material.

A year's course in Library is offered, in which the student is taught to select intelligently, and to develop the ability to judge the value of literature.

The Mathematics Department cover every practical and primary principle of mathematics. It is evident that mathematics act with every branch of science and helps in the development of a background which will be of great help in the work he will do after graduation.

In order to fulfill the growing demands for mathematical knowledge in the defense activities, which the light of present-day developments is gaining increased importance, one of the primary goals of the Mathematics Department is to equip both the undergraduate and graduate students with the necessary knowledge for entrance into the various branches of the service. With a proper background in mathematics, the student will be able to handle the increased demands of the service.

In addition, the department also offers a course in statistics, which is a very important branch of mathematics.

This trait itself is outstanding in character building which is necessary in maintaining unity and strength in government.

Supplementing the defense activities carried on by the people in the services are the fields of industry and commerce, which are producing the machinery vital to the nation. The department also offers a course in applied mathematics for those students who are interested in being active in the production works. The department is presented whereby they can take a course in applied mathematics which they will find helpful in preparing them for their future specialized mechanical work.

Students learn formulas, specific concepts, problems, and work professional experiments in the laboratory. The course is one of the most interesting and useful in school, this is proved by the fact that it is the most popular subject in the school.

The subjects which are best for the student, are of the highest, and, in general, keeping in the best possible condition is explained in Life Science. In Life Science II structure of plants and animals, the various groups and classifications of each, pest control, and the easiest manner in which to get the best results in crops and gardens are given.

The physiology classes specialize in the study of the structure of the human body. They do this by using numerous drawings, and various models to explain the functions of the different organs of the body. An appreciation of the beautiful structure of the human body is developed. Physical Science is perhaps the most well-rounded part of the science group. It is practical for those going on to college and extremely useful for those who aren't. It brings in the best points of all the sciences and works them into a program designed to help in solving many of the problems which will arise later in life.

The Junior Ph harmonic organization is the newest addition to Dorsey's club program. This organization, which can include only twenty members, gives Dorsey musicians and music lovers a chance to participate in Ph harmonic concerts and to be acquainted with the Ph harmonic.

The organization has contributed more to the student body than any other in the school. During the 1941-42 year, its outstanding presentations were the Christmas program and the Talent Show. The organization's musical offering given at Dorsey was "The Christ Child Came," by the Junior Ph harmonic. The Commercial Department is one of the most important departments in the school due to the fact that it trains a large percentage of the students who are able to step into the business world immediately after graduation. The students are prepared to be stenographers, bookkeepers, salesmen, and clerks under the able direction of Mr. Addison and his competent staff. By maintaining a business atmosphere in their classes, the commercial majors will find it easy to adapt themselves to the routine of the business world.

The commercial students have their own club—the Chamber of Commerce. They entertain prominent business men and women and discuss the latest business problems.

The commercial majors receive thorough training in shorthand, bookkeeping, office practice and business law. The course of study includes two years of typing, two years of shorthand, one year of office practice, and one term of business law. Stenographic students gain valuable experience in operating the various office machines, dictation and transcribing their shorthand notes, preparing bulletins and announcements, and managing the school board. They are under the supervision of Winona McGuire.

The Physical

Department brings to every girl her mental and physical development. Numerous skills are fostered for the benefit of the individual.

One of the important aims of the department is to build the health of the girls through active participation in physical education. A clean competitive spirit sports results in teamwork and leadership, and initiative and leadership are developed. Good morale and fun are the results of the hard and satisfying work of the Physical Education Department. Due to the fine work of the instructors, Head of the Department, Miss Graber, Misses, we have the encouragement necessary to bring about the aims of the Girls' Athletic Association.

The aims of the Girls' Athletic Association are to develop vigorous bodies, teach and promote physical education for recreation, and to encourage wholesome activities offered to the girls incorporate the aims of the A.A., and provide for enjoyable playtime. Miss Graber is sponsor, serves as an inspiring guide for the girls.

Pat Gray headed the activities. Her participation in two playdays at Fairfax and Banning High Schools brought friendship between the girls of the different schools. Keele V. and Dorothy Truesdale and Ruth M. assisted in making the first terms in G.A.A. history. Basketball, headed by Lois Seaman and Jeanne Crider, furnished inter-team competition. Jeanne Crider, head of Kamborian, head of twosome, dive to bring out individual ability. In spite of war-time restricted inter-school playdays and night play, the girls showed the fine results of their accomplishments.

A playday was held and every girl participated with enthusiasm. Jeanne Crider major aim of the boys' Correction to aid in obtaining good correction of the several defects. Another objective is maintaining a corrective program that will carry the weaker boys with their postural defects through the formative stage in their physical development

A T H L E T I C S

Many boys in corrective spend several semesters doing the specialized exercises. However, the work of the student who desires a perfect posture is only begun at school. Just as important is the work over at home and away from school when the student should do additional work and at all times be conscious of his posture.

Endeavoring to help as much as possible to further the National Defense Program, First Aid classes have been formed the purpose of which is to give the boys elementary instructions on how to administer immediate and temporary aid. Also all Senior A boys have taken first period gym in order to obtain a basic understanding of army drill. This will prove extremely beneficial to those about to enter the armed forces.

The Managers Club members merit much credit and receive little recognition for the vital work they do. No football, baseball, or basketball game, track or gym meet would be possible without them as they see to it that all equipment is in its best possible condition and take care of it during and after contests.

This semester a new method has been inaugurated to discover the amount of headway the boys have gained through the department's program. A physical fitness program has been worked out. The events include the one mile walk, running continuously for five minutes, running broad jump, fifteen foot rope climb, push-up, shot put, dodging run, high kick, bar vault, and headstand for time.

The test is given at the beginning of the semester and at the end. The various records are compared and give concrete proof of how much the student has improved during the course of the semester.

Service plays a vital part in our school life. It implies responsibility on the part of the individual student, as every group is instrumental in the general welfare of the school.

The Service Board is under the direction of the Boys' and Girls' Service vice president. They coordinate the various branches which make up this important organization.

The experience of the student as a service member serves as training in cooperation and in the development of leadership.

be fire wardens, first aid administrators, and recreation leaders. The fire wardens have a fully equipped fire truck, which may be pushed to any spot on the campus. They have received complete instructions in the correct procedure in putting out an incendiary bomb and different types of fires. First Aid stations have been set up at strategic points. To keep up morale and prevent panic, the recreation leaders supply games and songs to the various classes, and each building has its squad of door guards and a messenger.

To be better equipped to serve the school and the community, the entire faculty enrolled in a six-week first aid course. At its completion, all passed the regular test and were entitled to a First Aid Certificate. The school is also prepared to serve by acting as an emergency food and shelter center. Arrangements have been made with the P.T.A. for cooking assistants, dormitory mothers for night shelters in the building, and nurses' aids.

The student body has been contributing materially to the defense effort by making stretchers in the shops, knitting and bandages in the various girls' clubs, by donating expensive school supplies, and through the collection of funds from the Business Office.

As a result of all these preparations, Dorsey is no longer a place of learning only, but an important and vital contributor to the national war effort.

THE CENTRAL COORDINATING STAFF, composed of Mrs. Verna Phillips, Mrs. Mary Ann Phillips, Mrs. Margaret Phillips, Mrs. Mary Ann Phillips, Mrs. Mary Ann Phillips, and Leonard Heller, members of the group for the first semester only edited the 1942 Dorsey.

Under the supervision of their faculty advisor, Mrs. Verna Phillips, who gave them invaluable assistance and advice, the staff members worked on the book for several months, handling the editing, section and page arrangements.

After the book was printed, the staff members were able to illustrate the aim of Dorsey's educational program which is to prepare the students for the future. The art and journalism staffs have carried this theme through in every way.

The staff members have distributed student copies of the complete new organization which was printed out the work of their respective departments under the supervision of faculty members.

The coordinating staff has been working on the book for over one hundred annuals before making their first appearance in a printed book. This is the first Dorsey annual to be printed in color. In addition, this year's book has larger photographed areas and color illustrations than any other under the old printed method.

At the beginning of the year, the school board decided to have a yearbook. The first yearbook was published in 1900. Since then, there have been many more yearbooks. The yearbook is a book that contains pictures and stories about the school and the students. It is a record of the school's history and the lives of its students. The yearbook is published every year and is a very important part of the school's tradition. The yearbook is a book that contains pictures and stories about the school and the students. GRAM

SPORTOGRAM

During the past four years the Sportogram has provided the official athletic program for Dorsey high school. Finding the sports spectators unable to enjoy the games because of their lack of knowledge as to the names of the players, the Dorseygram sponsored the idea of having a small paper published to enable everyone to enjoy and understand the games.

Upon the editor and his associates lie the difficult responsibility of compiling the names and numbers of the players both from Dor and the visiting team. The Sportogram contains the latest information and distributed on the day of the event features the viewpoints of the student and coaches. Space is also allotted on each edition so that the score may be recorded. All of this greatly aids the student to follow the game with ease.

Izzy Pearlberg edited the W'42 sport paper, ably assisted by Norm Linder. There was a complete coverage of all football games. Norm Linder continued Izzy Pearlberg's fine work as Editor-in-Chief, and was given valuable aid by Tom Clement and Art Weiss. Baseball, basketball, and track were the chief sports in the write-ups.

Printed by the Graphic Arts Department, the Sportogram is a vital part of our journalistic activities.

TRIAL FLIGHTS

Trial Flights, which is published annually, is one of the undertakings that signifies Dorsey's endeavor to encourage students in their individual interests.

The booklet accepts contributions from the students, regardless of their level, in poetry and prose. It is limited to a certain number of sections as it is only the best compositions that are accepted. In order to approach this problem fairly and without bias, a group of students representing the various English departments read each selection and then collaborate on their findings and choose those that in their opinions are the best. Then a committee of teachers select what they deem to be the finest, and the two groups together decide the sections that are to be published.

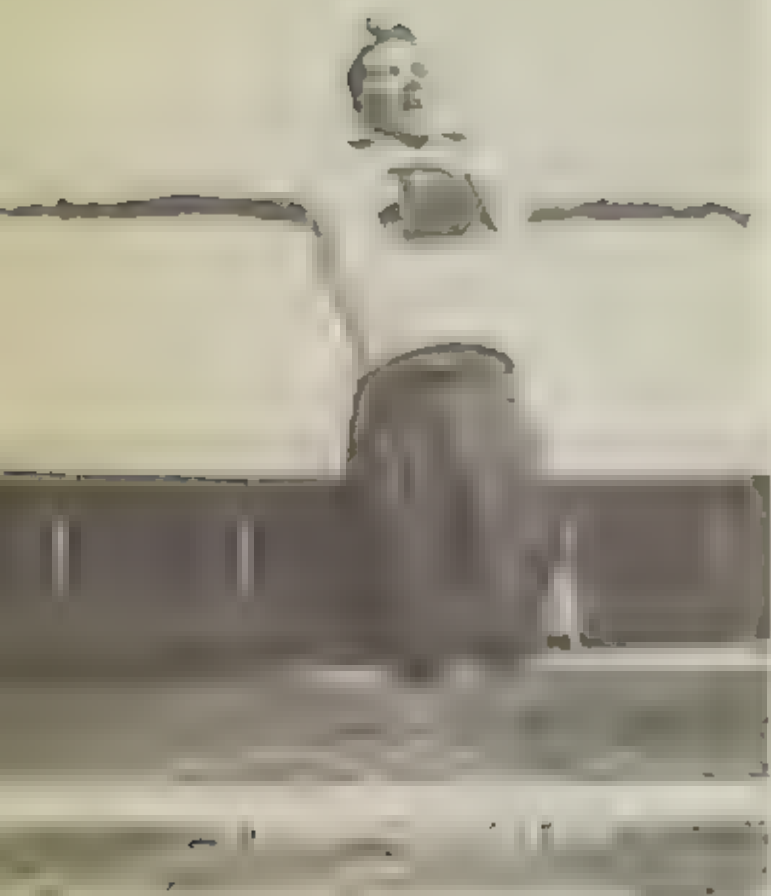

The entire booklet is designed and printed in the Dorsey print shop, thus minimizing the expense involved.

Leading DeMott through his career in athletics, sportsmanship, and leadership were the yell leaders who worked tirelessly to achieve, were our yell leaders, who worked unceasingly to keep school spirit and enthusiasm high. Yell King Kenichi Rikimaru and his two assistants, Ray DeMott and Bob Hanley, worked during the fall. Ray DeMott, yell king of the spring semester, was aided by Arnold Gooze and Phil Barrone.

At the games, the yell leaders gained the good will of other schools when the time came for exchange yells and the yell leaders of the two different schools led the opposite side. They were able to put pep into all the yells they formulated so that the teams, supported in this way, could really fight to win and know that their school was behind them.

The yell leaders' training school is sponsored by the yell leaders of each current year. The hopeful yell leaders of the future semester attend this class twice a week. They learn the different yells and how to give them so that everyone who hears them will be instilled with genuine enthusiasm and interest. Tryouts at the end of the semester determine the five boys who will be put on the ballot at the time of community elections.

BEE FOOTBALL 1941 will go down in history as the year of Dorsey High's first pigskin championship. The accomplisheers of this notable feat were the mighty midgets of Coach "Bud" Brubaker. Featuring the Notre Dame shift of Knute Rockne and the modern "T" formation, Donhi's Bee gridders proved unstoppable from start to finish of the regular league season.

Tricky ball handling, hard running, and blocking by the backfield composed of Mike Mazmanian at quarter, Max Schumaker at full, Jay Moskowitz at left half, and Goro Sasaki at right half produced a total of 123 points.

Particularly deadly were the forward pass combinations of Moskowitz, Sasaki and Moskowitz to sticky-fingered end A. Elliott.

Fellows who saw plenty of action during this season and will be seen further on Dorsey's football fields were backs Jerry Stapp, Walt Lentz, and Jack Kalejian, Line men Bill Benjamin, Paul Babcock, Bill Poe, and "Blondie" Kalle.

VARSIITY BASKETBALL Never a team capable of superior performances, but always a battling bunch. Dorsey's Varsity cagers have wins in ten Western League frays.

He played with a deceptive and fast look over his assignment. A difficult adversary. His basketball wisdom will undoubtedly add many baskets.

VARSITY BASEBALL The 1942 edition of Dorsey's Varsity Ball Club, although not quite up to the standards established by their tremendously good predecessors, were far from being mediocre, as they pounded out six wins in ten league efforts.

The Don's four losses came two each at the bats of the Hollywood and Fairfax horsehiders, while the locals were twice victorious over University, Venice, and Hamilton. Coach Sid Witherow's boys chalked up the 25-2 triumph in their second Yankee encounter, among the highest scores ever recorded by a prep outfit.

Two of the varsity's ace ball players, Outfielder Buster Galbraith and Shortstop Jerry Stapp, earned positions on the All-Western League aggregation.

Dorsey lined up with Leo Globus, cagey veteran behind the plate, and either Ronney Burton, a curve ball artist, or Dick Allen on the mound. At first base was big hard hitting Chuck Roeder, on the keystone sack "Ikie" Aporian, a tenth grader.

with lots of promise, at the hot corner, neat fielding Bob Hanley or Ray Magaro, a fine swatsmith, and on the shortpatch Jerry Stapp good all-round player. In the outfield were Frank Rayor, hefty clean-up swatter, speedy Dick Allen, also a chucker, and Buster Galbraith, the man with the highest batting average, and of course, the jack of all trades Jay Moskowitz, who played first, second and catcher.

In the fourth annual Dorsey High School Invitational Baseball Tourney the Donhi squad was not so successful as it has been in previous years. In their first tourney game the locals were taken by Fremont who went on to capture the coveted gold cup for the second time. Then, after convincing victories over San Pedro and Venice the Dorseyites met final defeat and elimination at the hands of a good Narbonne club.

Much credit for whatever success the Dons achieved this year must go to Coach Witherow, who worked all the year with each boy individually, taking great time and patience to help each iron out his faults and make of himself a credit to the sport.

BEE BASEBALL City champs for the third were Coach Charles Scherf's Bee baseballers. The second varsity went through the season winning percent and behind the catcher, Harry Kirk at shortstop. Rounding out the team are Smith and Bill Lamb.

TENTH GRADE BASEBALL The fledglings of the diamond, Coach "Bud" Brubaker's tenth grade horsehide did finish third in the championship outfit.

Pitcher Bob Wiley, First Sac, Andrioli, First Bas, Duane T. controlled by Duane T.

The Dons, in league competition, won three ball games while dropping two. The losses came at the bats of Los Angeles and Banning while Dorsey's triumphs came in Venice, Inglewood, and Fremont battles.

SOFTBALL Coach Walter Larsh's softball men, perennially handicapped by lack of material, managed, nevertheless, to put up a good fight with every foe. The Dons, in all of the contests with opponents who get the pick of the school players while Donhi's softball team gets the remainder of the fellows who do not go out for Varsity Baseball or 10th grade baseball.

In ten league fracasess Donhi won two and tied another in a thrilling 0-0 fifteen-inning affair.

SOFT BALL Row 1—Rendleman, Foreman, Brown, Dolley, Gustafson, Kiehle, Pearson, Hogan. Row 2—Supple, Lantieri, Nevill, Deuling, Linder, Arvidson, Larkin, Chaipe, Krause, Coach Larsh, Carley, Porter, Gillingham, Kressin, Rhodes, Miller, Roeder, Rogers, Allen, Kirby.

BEE TRACK The years-old tradition of Donhi league championship Bee track teams seems in little danger of being shattered in 1942. The current crop of lightweight in three previous league encounters has romped to overwhelming victories in each.

Dorsey's "in betweens" are paced by diminutive Walt Boyd, speedy sprinter and broad jumper, Les King, equally speedy hurdler and high jumper, Al Elliott, Tom Firms, and Bill Grinnell, distance aces, and Walt Lentz, strong arm shot putter.

Always to be counted on for their share of points are Norm Gerhardt, hurdler, Clarence Moskow, distance runner, Marv Margolies, shot putter, pole vaulters Bill Benjamin and Bill Burroughs, and sprinter and broad jumper Jack Alejan.

BEE TRACK Seeking their second crown in succession and the third in Dorsey's history, the local Cee's in three league trays have coasted to easy victories. But the quest of the "little ones" will not prove as uneventful as that of their Bee brothers for in their path lies a potent crew of Hollywood midgets, who, like the Cees, have not yet tasted defeat.

Outstanding for the Dons have been Jim Creighton, sprinter, Gordy McKay, shot putter and distance man, Sid Adlin, high jumper, Hardy Jim Gerhardt, hurdler, 'Smitty' Smith, broad jumper, and Lloyd Leonard and Herman Freedman, sprinters.

Coach Allison McNay's varsity cross-country men limaxed a season of successes by playing rude hosts in the Dorsey all-city cross-country meet and placing the coveted Williams Foundation gold cup to rest in the Don trophy case.

This team, led by ace harriers Tommy Firmes and Irving Smith, who usually finished either first or second, and Ray Rodriguez, Sam Harmell, Lan Lewand, and Les King, who could always be counted on to bag their share of points, constituted perhaps the best of some very good Dorsey cross-country aggregations.

Completing the Don's distance running picture was the city championship winning performance of the 10th graders. Gene Spradling, city 10th grade champ, Bill Grinnell and Stan Stafford paced the fledglings through an undefeated season.

The third group of distance runners, Dorsey's Bees, although not quite equalling the championship garnering performances of the Varsity and 10th grade, took a second to the Garfield runners. At the fore for the local B's were Lloyd Maddy and Tom Palmer.

All in all, this year of cross-country was a huge success, and no little share of credit is due to Coach McNay.

Beginning the season with a squad weakened by the transfer of four top lettermen, Coach Harold C. Alley's racqueteers came back to compile the best pre-season match record in the short history of Dorsey High School. Out of seven practice frays the Dons were victorious in five, their only losses in close 4-3 battles with Fremont and Loyola's powerhouse teams.

Leading the Donhi forces were Ed Alexander and Don Gilbert, who alternated at the first singles positions. First doubles were handled capably by the Victor Adorian-Bill Katz combine. The remainder of the singles spots were filled well by Richard Berman, "Itchy" Carlson and Al Gorlick. Right behind the first doubles team were Frank Kreftman and Norm Sigal, who met with fine success as Donhi's second doubles pair. A full season of Western League matches is expected, and the Dorseyites are counting upon finishing high in the loop standings.

Nineteen hundred and forty-two marked the final season of racquet competition for Gilbert, Gorlick, Katz, Carlson and Sigal, but prospects for the future are extremely promising. To Coach Alley, who devoted his free period and much extra time to the development and betterment of individual players, must be given a major share of credit for this season's fine showing of Dorsey's tennis team.

TENNIS SQUAD: Row 1: Eds, Korman, Adorian, Carlson, Sigal, Alexander, Katz, Ruda, Gass, Epstein, Fowler, Washburn, Kesse, Linder. Row 2: Stanek, Strick, McCarum, LeFevre, Kulmas, Coach Alley.

Dorsey High School's youthful "Atlases," although triumphing in but one of five league games, fared a little better in the Western League final when they garnered a fourth place.

For the Dons, Dave Haddock, tumbler extraordinary, Richie Robinson, side horse specialist, Arnie Mendoza, speedy rope climber, and Jack Gladstein, crack free-exercise man, all placed in the league finals.

Consistent point gainers for the locals in their league meets were versatile Gene Gregory, who performed on the high bar, long horse, and in the tumbling events, Max Klein, ace tumbler and long horse man, Fred Peck, Joe Denner, and Tom Moxley on the rings; Ed Pollock on the high bar and side horse, Chuck Kick and Kinichi Rickamura in the free-exercise, and Ralph Johnson on the long horse.

Under the tutelage of Coach Gerard (in the Navy) Burchard, the tenth and eleventh graders made great strides in the way of improvement, and next semester Dorsey's musclemen can be expected to do very well in league competition.

A fellow out for gym club receives little in the way of recognition. The gymnast, building his body, building it for the future when at his strength will be needed to be of greater service to his country.
